

---

International conference Ancient Trees in Urban Environments May 10th-11th 2012

Last registration day May 1st

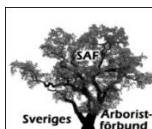

---

The Museum of Natural History and the National City Park, Stockholm

- Regards from “The Ancient Tree Man and The Ancient Tree Lady” Ted Green and Jill Butler via video
- Ancient trees in a European context – Why are Swedish trees important? Vikki Bengtsson
- The cultural importance of old trees in urban environments and cultural landscapes Urban Emanuelsson
- Natural aging processes of trees, an ecosystem approach to diagnostics & management Neville Fay
- Best practice in West Sweden: A municipality collaboration to protect valuable trees Karin Meyer
- Best practice in UK: How did ancient trees get there and how do we protect them? Chris Knapman
- The importance of old trees to urban people, conflicting interests and solutions Francesco Ferrini
- Oak trees and their “rotten fungi” Lynne Boddy
- Assessing, balancing and managing risks and benefits from trees Mike Ellison
- Risk mitigation: How to understand trees from their body language and measurements? Frank Rinn
- The relevance of the Swedish Species Information Centre for ancient, urban trees Artur Larsson
- Workshops in the field: Ancient trees and their biodiversity Vikki Bengtsson, Mats Jonsell, Lynne Boddy, Mats Gothnier, Ancient trees in the cultural landscape Henrik Niklasson, Urban Emanuelsson, Karl-Olof Bergman, Lars-Gunnar Bråvander, Ancient trees and risk Jon Hartill, Mike Ellison, Chris Knapman Alternatives to felling Daniel Daggfeldt, Neville Fay and active arborists

A joint arrangement by

Conference fee SEK 2 200
Thursday dinner SEK 525

Program:

<http://www.scribd.com/doc/90436447/Program-Ancient-Trees-Eng>

Register by mail to [conference2012@
sverigesarboristforbund.se](mailto:conference2012@sverigesarboristforbund.se)

